$11,008 Suit Is Filed Here

Loren Stevenson, Elwin Tupper, a minor, and his father, Robert Tupper, were named co-defendants in an $11,008.50 damage suit filed against the Twin Falls district court Friday by James H. McFarlin.

The case arises from an auto accident March 14 on the Twin Falls and Jerome highway. McFarlin, a 19-year-old Stevenson parked in front of the McFarlin pickup truck stalled on the side of the highway, and the two vehicles collided with the McFarlin truck.

McFarlin contends the collision resulted from negligence on the part of young Tupper and Stevenson. The two caused serious damage in the amount of $1,000. They both sue for their medical expenses and for their car.

Grow spectacular roses

Tests like this prove roses respond beautifully!

ORTHO Liquid Rose Food gives spectacular results in 5 week test: more blooms... longer, stronger stems... more luxuriant growth. Plant on left received just 5 feedings of Liquid Rose Food. Plant on right, in same soil, was watered only.

► DESIGNED SPECIFICALLY FOR ROSES

ORTHO Liquid Rose Food is a specially balanced formula that fills the particular nutrient needs of roses. That's why it makes such spectacular differences in roses. Improves growth fast, too, because it's a liquid, readily absorbed by both roots and foliage. A chelating agent releases soil minerals for additional plant nourishment.

SPRAY OR SPRINKLE. Mix ORTHO Liquid Rose Food in water as label directs, sprinkle on soil and foliage with watering can. Easier yet, apply with ORTHO Lawn Sprayer attached to garden hose.

Add to Schools

The spotlight has been focused on federal aid to schools again in the past few days because of action taken by two school boards and Idaho's teachers. It all started last Monday night when the Twin Falls school board voted 3 to 2 to exclude $5,000 allocated under the national defense education act. Twin Falls schools used some $10,000 under the act in the current fiscal year after much argument and discussion.

The same night Jerome's school board was passing a resolution unanimously against federal aid to schools. The board plans to send copies of the resolution to Idaho's congressmen.

At Nampa Wednesday night, the Idaho State Teachers Association adopted a resolution noting "encroachment of the federal government into local matters has grown into a huge bureaucracy." The resolution added that federal appropriations eventually carry with them federal control.

The teachers are safe right; federal aid has developed into a national crutch used by a spreading federal bureaucracy to perpetuate itself and continue to grow. U. S. aid to schools with resulting control of the education system and eventual control of children's minds is the ultimate goal. Never underestimate the importance of winning the minds of children, fellow by the name of "adults" like George Washington, "Give to the children and I will give you the world." He very nearly did it, too.

Almost without pause, U. S. bureaucracy has been using the panacea of federal aid for the last 30 years. Such federal aid has reached the point where many people believe the trend must be reversed—and soon—if the nation is to survive in its republican form of government. There could be no better place to reverse the trend than to block the aid-to-schools plan.

However, something else will have to be done to solve the financial problem of education. In their resolution, Idaho's teachers reaffirmed their stand supporting a state sales tax to finance schools.

The problem is simple; like everything else, the cost of operating schools has increased. Many school districts—Twin Falls among them—have been levying the maximum permitted by law for several years. And in the case of Twin Falls, the board of education faces the problem of needing another junior high school yet already levying the maximum permitted by law. Obviously, a second junior high school will increase operation costs. What will be the source of the additional funds?

This raises a good question: Why should there be a legal limit on the amount of funds a community can spend on its schools? Elections are specified to approve all levies above a certain point—and voters will not hesitate to draw an effective line when they feel schools are receiving sufficient funds.

Rejection of federal aid to education is right and proper and everyone should hope and pray it starts reversing the aid trend. Along with rejecting U. S. money, citizens must face up to supporting their schools on a local basis, which also is proper.

In connection with the business of federal aid, citizens should always remember it is a farce. The federal government can never "give" anything without first taking it from the people. It's interesting to note that taxes and federal aid have grown together.

Remember that every dollar sent to Washington is diminished—considerably—by bureaucracy before being returned in the guise of federal aid.

DECENTRALIZATION

Changes in transportation and the resulting differences in living and shopping habits are bringing problems that aren't likely to disappear overnight.

Evidence of the changes can be spotted in nearly any community, the empty upper floors of business buildings where professional offices were located once, empty store buildings in downtown sections and spreading shopping centers that feature the ready auto parking space designed so essential for nearly any business today.

Equally easy to spot are the signs of efforts to deal with the increasing decentralization afflicting nearly all communities. One of the most drastic is the shopping mall, the innovation in which business districts are reserved exclusively for shopping and trade, for convenience and enjoyment. Other signs of offsetting the changes include extensive remodeling, expanded nearby parking lots and general beautification of the business district.

In Burley, merchants are involved in a "Beauty Burly" project that involves portable planters in front of stores with suitable flowers and plants. In Twin Falls, a bank parking lot in the center of the city sports many new plants and a few leafy trees. At least one store displays a tree near its entrance.

Whether it's the shopping mall, expanded parking areas or potted plants, the goal is the same: to make shopping areas generally more attractive.

Established business districts aren't likely to disappear, though there probably will be considerably more change in the years ahead. Not the least important change will be expanded parking areas, which is the actual key to shopping popularity now.

WASHINGTON—Which kind of men are best suited to run the government at Washington—Kenya's men, or men of moderate-train politicalicians?

This absorbing and momentous question has been raised by the administration's record so far, but more specifically by Arthur Schlesinger Jr., pro-new deal professor and generally touted as the dean of the academicians with whom President Kennedy consults himself, and on whom he tests heavily for advice.

The anti-Castro fiasco has also given current interest to this question of the relative qualifications of the two types of federal executives: administrators and planners.

It is understood that the President listened attentively to his professional advisers on the Cuban situation, but he has also been a close listener to his "moderate" professor and generally touted as the dean of the academicians with whom President Kennedy consults himself, and on whom he tests heavily for advice.

The anti-Castro fiasco has also given current interest to this question of the relative qualifications of the two types of federal executives: administrators and planners.

"The administration," said the bureaucrat, "was not built on the assumption that it would be right."

After accepting the nomination as "intellectuals" for the Kennedy administration, he continued, "we must now realize that the world you was drawn from a single interest—big business. Now, we have men whose backgrounds are law, business science, labor or combinations of these. That means that ideas will now have a place in government."

INTELLECTUALS COME MARCHING IN—Despite what is generally regarded as a small chip on the shoulder of those toward whom Schlesinger's remarks applied, the "intellectuals" would be well advised to attack on the so-called favorites of the predecessor regime.

Schlesinger's remarks on foreign affairs repelled Professor Ray Tucker, family man and spokesman for the "intellectuals" who would be well advised to attack on the so-called favorites of the predecessor regime.

The professor did not answer the query posed in the first paragraph of this column. Obviously nobody can until the full record is written, but the record of the Kennedy administration is that of the "intellectuals" who say "it is world-wide."

NOT ALL EGOMADS IN ONE BASKET—He also took a nonprofessionals crack at President Eisenhower. He sharply criticized the former chief executive for never having ended his tour of duty in the supreme court school of desegregation decision.

Only a few days after this Baltimore speech, At. Gen. Kennedy made up for Eisenhowers' neutral attitude by sending him a historic and controversial 1944 speech on "fish."

On Latin American policy, and this address was delivered before the CIA's invasion of Cuba, Schlesinger said, "The administration should be to proud to be a 'good neighbor' attitude."

A THING OF SHREDS AND PATCHES

One might suppose that the minimum wage bill, now in compromise form, heading toward a decisive vote in the house, would be aimed primarily at the wage of workers who are most in need of it.

Actually it is not so much that.

It's a concoction in which economic or humanitarian factors are a minor part, and it's a product of what one observes terms "the best exhibition of initiate logrolling, pitting one economic interest against another, since the beginning of the last debates reverberated through the halls of Congress."

The bill as it comes from the Senate-House conference committee is shot full of loopholes and exemptions.

While it bypasses the 90-cent-an-hour non-professional hospital employee, for instance, it extends coverage to the construction workers and to those who work in plants for less than half a premium after working a 40-hour week.

Exempted, too, are hotel and restaurant workers, and meat retail store employees, and so on. In the case of the 16,000 laundry workers who are covered under the provisions of the bill it stands, but who, it's rather frankly admitted, will be left out if the bill's proponents get their way.

It's a bill that is full of shortcomings as it is, this bill, according to its sponsors, is merely "a prelude of better things to come." If they, "can make a breakthrough in that direction," like this, in the fall, and raise the minimum wage in five years; then come the farm workers, and complete coverage eventually will be forthcoming.

This federal government gets more deeply involved in the lives of individuals, including the government and does it intend to try to restrain the wage spiral, or does it seek political reward for ostensibly raising the minimum wage?

It's evident that the administration has keyed its proposal to placate maximum congressional support, and it's a prelude of the greatest need. If the bill gets through Congress as now seems likely, it'll be a "pretty sorry" move, shift, and its objectives are questionable, indeed.

Local Youth Gets Award for Dairy Efficiency

Jerry Kuykendall, 14, Twin Falls 4-H club member, is receiving a large trophy plaque from Donald T. Evans, county agent, for superior achievement in dairy products; an award sponsored annually by the National Dairy Products and the Kraft Foods company. Twin Falls Youth Takes Second Place In State 4-H Dairy Efficiency Contest

A Twin Falls youth who started with one Ayrshire heifer calf, raised it, and now has two cows and four calves, has been awarded a $100 scholarship to the University of Idaho. Jerry Kuykendall, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Kuykendall, who farm 80 acres west of South Park, received the award. His records show how he had a feed cost of 55 cents for every pound of butterfat turned out by his milk cows. After he first received the calf as a present from his parents, he took it to the county fair and showed it at Pifer, where he won first place at 4-H achievement day.

He also won other honors at county and district fairs with his Ayrshires, primarily in showing and fitting.

Money to buy feed for his ani-

He also won a trophy at the county fair for having the best Ayrshire herd in the state.

He is a straight A student at Twin Falls high school, where he is a member of the debate team and was awarded a science and mathematics scholarship to attend the University of Kansas this summer for a three-week period.

Ways to Stretch Short Water Supplies Suggested by Extension Irrigationist

BOYER, May 12—Dorrell C. Larson, extension irrigationist for the Idaho Department of Agriculture, recommends that during this short-water year farmers can help their situation by paying more attention to irrigation by using the right amount of water during different stages of plant growth, and avoiding over-irrigation.

Some of these water-stretching methods can be applied in the ditches and main waterlines before the water is turned in.

Larson recommended that the ditch should be cleaned to save water. The water in the main ditches should be kept out of the headgate area—and the entire length of the main ditches.

Larson recommended that the ditch should be cleaned in the ditches and main waterlines before the water is turned in.

Where possible, pipelines and concrete-lined ditches should be installed to save water.

It is recommended that when tubes are used as much as possible since these distribute water evenly and save labor.

Knowing the size of the irrigation system will help the farmer. Knowing how much water is available and the acreage set will tell an irrigator if he is keeping pace with his water supply.

It is recommended that one cubic foot per second, or 400 gallons of water per minute, should be applied to each acre.

Warning Noted

SUNVALLEY, May 12—Speed growth of watermelons, by Virgil Cross, Muir-Casino potato extension agent, against using first-cut out seed purchased from eastern Idaho.

Ringworm and blight, a sulfurum "cannulari" have been found in first-cut, out seed brought in from those areas.

These diseases have been detected when they were growing in the fields, and the reason is usually disease. Otherwise they have made out.

Cross pointed out.

Gross Income on Eggs, Chickens Shows Increase

WAGGONER, May 12—Gross income from eggs, farm chickens, and commercial broilers totaled three billion dollars in 1959. Of the 1960 gross, 34 per cent was from eggs, 34 per cent from commercial broilers and 32 per cent from chickens.

Cash receipts from sales of broilers, and farm chickens in 1960 accounted for 2.3 billion dollars, or 76 per cent of the gross income. The remaining five per cent represents the value of products consumed on farms where produced.

Gross income sales of turkeys in 1960 amounted to $77 million dollars.

see your Production Credit Association first...

C CREDIT COOPERATIVES

Here you'll find these advantages awaiting you—

• Farm loans made by people friendly to and well acquainted with farming.

• You can secure a "line of credit" which means you have this money available for use as you need it. It can be used anytime—and you're never charged anything until you actually use the money—then only for the actual number of days it is used.

• PCAs are geared to help you do the best job of forming for the maximum profit through the use of adequate "tailor-made" farm credit.

• PCAs are a dependable source of credit in amounts adequate to do the job, with repayments fitted to the farm income.

Some Families Broken Up by Too Many Sets

NEW YORK, May 12 (UPI)—When television was young and growing, it was getting a lot of credit for bringing the American family together.

A lovely picture was painted of the whole family, sitting silently and compatibly in front of the magic box, their attention glued to "Hollywood Cendry" or "Milton Berle."

Well, TV is older now, the novelty has worn off and almost nine out of ten families have more than one set. The experts are predicting that the medium is starting to break up the family and turn members into solitary viewers.

The trend toward individual viewing is apparently well-recognized, as is the need for a new attitude made for a major advertising agency.

Television rating services like the research group that try to estimate TV audience size believe that today there is more than one—two or three—in at least 10 percent of the homes.

In the not too distant future, it is possible that father will be in the study watching a baseball or football game; mother, in the living room, watching, doubtless, with Lovelia Young or actress for a Day, and the kids, in the playroom trying to persuade grandmas to turn off "Sing Along with Dick Clark."

Well, togetherness has been nice while it lasted.

Paul Henried's Career Wrecked; Now He Directs

HOLLYWOOD, May 12 (UPI)—Television wrecked Paul Henried's career as a star but put him in business as a director.

When Henried, 40, was unhooked 10 years ago and cut their roster of actors, and faced Henried was among the first to go. After a few years of futile, futile roles while deeply humiliated, he turned to directing and found himself happier than before.

"I'm not too hot," he said.

For a year and a half, the studio turned him out as a director to a handful of box office stars—Brando, Sinatra, Holden, Cooper and Kirk Douglas. The rest of us were out.

In the depths of despair the Austria-born performer was reluctantly becoming a director.

"It's a terrible job, but where does one begin?" Henried went on. "I had directed three pictures in the past when studios asked me to assess my talent. But the doors were closed."

Thus far Henried has directed 27 "Alfred Hitchcock Presents" and other telecasts, including "Mister," "Cheesecake," "Sunset Strip," "Tin Pan" and "Hong Kong."

PARENTS Magazine Discusses "Blue Denim"

"Blue Denim" is a new word with dignity and meaning. The problem of decent young people whose easy sex drives get them into trouble is finally brought home in this remarkable article. The author, a mother of two sons and a daughter, and a grandmother of two sons and a daughter, writes of her fears and the fears of her parents. The story is told in a way that is sure to move the audience. Even mothers and fathers whose own sons are small will be able to see themselves in the story. The communication must be built up over the years. Carol Lynley as the boy and Brandon de Wilde as the girl are appealing and convincing both in their started avowals of love and the stunned realization of its aftermath. More than any other, this is a story of responsibility, even to their own part in the failure to bridge the gap of understanding with the parents. The story is told in a gentle, fair but uncompromising treatment.

"Hour" Show Will Replace Short Series

HOLLYWOOD, May 12 (UPI)—The "Hour" is king on television. Next fall more viewers will be exposed to more of the series than ever before. Half-hour shows are being dropped or expanded to meet the demand for 60-minute programs by sponsors and networks.

Three familiar westerns, "Gunsmoke," "The Rebel" and "Wells Fargo," are being stretched to an hour by "Robert Taylor Detectives."

Half-hour efforts are dying by the dozen this season. Shows to be the dust are "Dante," "Peter Loves Mary," "Bat Masterson," "The Virginian," "The Virginians" and "The Edward Everett Young, Tab Hunter, Groucho Marx, Nanette Fabray.

ABC has decided to continue in the "Hour" trend with 18 long ones compared to nine half-hour shows. ABC splits its programs 50-50. NBC has increased its hours to 11 as compared with 24 30-minute goodies.

Typical of NBC's new policy is its prime time schedule for the day, Monday and Tuesday nights. Block programming is the rule, with three one-hour shows in succession.

The parade to lengthy shows is due, in large measure, to the success of ABC's "The Untouchables." It also has been a trend of new comedies and rehers thrillers like "6th Precinct," "Cain's 100," "The Investigator," "The Defenders," "The Corruptors" and "The New Doctors."

Two new "Tombstone" adventure series also are on tap, "The Big Arena" on NBC and "Circus on TV" on CBS. ABC will present an hour series titled "Bus Stop," taken from the 1956 film of the same name. "Another Woman" is the latest movie "Another Woman" and "The Search" seen on NBC when "Dr. Kildare" makes its debut.

Most puzzling development is a new show that hasn't made up its mind—"Alcoa Premiere," which stars Fred Astaire as host.

One week the program will be a half-hour, the next it will be a full hour, then it will be reduced to a half-hour, alternating between the two all afternoon.

Spanning the new hour format because it gives them a longer time to establish a "corporate" identity, the product they are advertising is not decided. The concord because one sale takes the place of two.

Viewers also endorse the longer program as reflected in the many rating services.

The new trend will work a hard-shit on off movies, overworked writers and those who must double their work load.

Situation comedies will suffer most. Few are funny for even a half hour, and the few that of them could gather laughs for an entire hour.

Investigator Is Drawn Into Case

HOLLYWOOD, May 12—Private investigator Greg MacKenzie is drawn into a case involving a pair of vases that have been stolen from a San Francisco art importer. Sam Sheong, whose very bride brought them to Honolulu in "Mad in America" on "Hawaii Eye," May 24.

The bride, Lan-Chin, anxious to become "Americanized" and win favor of her husband, but Sam and his wife are more interested in the vases from Hong Kong to pay attention to her. After Greg learns that the vases were being moved to make more room for other props being used in the investigation that the vases are a key to solving the case.

Grant Williams stars as Greg MacKenzie and Connie Stevens as Sam. Sheong is as Kim and Doug Massman as Moke.

Disney Plans to View Elk Films

HOLLYWOOD, May 12—A new view of the famous amusement park and the remote realm of "Disneyland '67 Olympic Elk" on "Walt Disney Presents."

First half of the dual program takes viewers on new rides, to the recent addition, and shows what the park is up to. The second half of the program is for future development. The TV tour shows how Disneyland has risen from a Bar-ren tree into its present impressive size.

In the second half of the program, Disney's naturalist-photographers probe the nomadic life of the great elk which inhabit the mountainous Oregon peninsula. In northwest "Washington state, following a herd of elk to the high country where the elk feed, breed and look for horns in battle.

FOOD FACTS

From Leo Soran

We all take salt for granted, but in ancient society it was given a truly exalted position as the symbol of friend-ship and of the Old Testament. One of the forms of salt was salted by the sprinkling of salt, and the Old Testament refers to "salt water" as being salty. It was even used as money. Our word "salary" comes from the Latin "salar," because of its wide use, it has been a heavily taxed commodity.

In India tax-free salt was long a favorite, but India was able to free itself of British rule. Here in America we still show its value when we say, "He's a salt dog." You can be sure that the many specialties that we have at the DEPOT GRILL will please you, your friends, and all your family. So bring them down—we're a friendly place to eat in.

Earp Star to Call Halt for Series on TV

HOLLYWOOD, May 12.—"There's no place for bullets in a western revolver, and Hugh O'Brian figures six years is about the limit for a successful television horse opera."

After completing his tenure in "The Life and Legend of Wyatt Earp," the actor said, "It's time for me to get off the horse while the getting is good."

"I'm not Wyatt. I'm grateful for all he's done for me. And I hope I did him justice, too."

Judice to barge.

Playing the famed western lawman for a half dozen years has made the 32-year-old Jayne actor one of the most popular stars in Hollywood. Thanks to the popularity of the series Hugh has had the wherewithal to invest wisely, especially in real estate, and has amassed a million dollar in assets.

He owns extensive acreage in California, Florida and Nevada. He is part owner of the Whaling Waters hotel in Sanibel, Fla., and has large interests in two building alleys and is up to his stirrups in stocks and bonds. He also owns his home free and clear.

"Earp left with a hell of a legacy," Hugh said.

"We had wonderful ratings from the beginning because we were the first adult western series on television. We were making it in other countries."

"I'll be getting money from returns in this country, in addition to first showings in England, Australia, Germany and South America."

"But I'm glad the show is over. It's important to leave when you're still hot. And a good five-shows will take us out in a blaze of glory."

O'Brian and company have planned one more TV's most unusual final curtain. The last show will be a five-part serial based on the battle at the O.K. corral.

Preston Has Star Role in Music Maker

HOLLYWOOD, May 12.—Prof. Harold Hill has set up shop out Burbank way, and the trombones and cornets are selling at a fast clip.

Prof. Hill also is known to millions as Robert Preston, and the two seem inseparable. Preston is not hard at work doing the film version of "The Music Man," which he created on Broadway. Strangely, he has no show to make the film.

"I'm sure some of the studio minds would have preferred to cast Fabian in the role," commented one wry observer.

However, the heads prevailed, they being those of "Music Man" creator, Meredith Willson, and director, David Lean. Preston is among those who believe they made a right decision.

"If you want to do the film version of 'Music Man,' you get the best Harold Hill. At this late date, there's nobody who can do it better," said Lean. "The role is perfect for him, and I'm sure of the role. You can't pick that up overnight."

Warner Brothers is quite all set to make "Music Man" the best. The bill for production will reportedly come to five million dollars, including cost of stars for the right. Filming starts early this month and will continue through August.

Paper's Expose Of Graft Leads To Trial on TV

HOLLYWOOD, May 12.—On a tip from a construction worker, columnist Pat Garrison writes a story stating that an underworld syndicate is using public materials and a million dollar libel suit is brought against his employer in "Million Dollar Suit" on "The Roaring '20s" Saturday, May 27.

When the worker, Tony Manzo, rang on the Informant he had been working for Sauer, a city commissioner, and Damion, owner of the construction company, pressure the columnist's bosses to fire him.

Donald May stars as Garrison, and other series regulars are Rex Reason as Scott Norris, Dorothy Draper as Mrs. Sauer, and Jerry Vinson as Chris Higbee, and James Flavin as Robert "Howie" Howard.

Guest players include Frank De Kova as Maxfield, Leo Gordon as Damion, Barry Kelley as Sauer, Mario Siletti as Angelo, and Bambi Mariano as Miss Toofie.

Welk Plans Trip Across Country

HOLLYWOOD, May 12.—A cross-country tour is on the agenda for Lawrence Welk and his ABC-TV Choraliers. The tour begins June 1, marking the third-person appearance for the company will have made.

The tour will include a stop in New York City Saturday, June 10, for a telecast of "The Lawrence Welk Show" on the ABC Television center there.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

How can parents teach little children but he still must have the training essential to his safety as far as the traffic and the odd stranger. Neighbors can be a great help to the mothers of runabout children. If a child is lost, the neighbors are the first to call for help. If a stranger offers candy, or gum, or even a ride in his car, that's one does not want to frighten children so that they panic when a stranger speaks to them but it's necessary to teach the children—from the perverts—their rights who do them harm.

I do not know the answer because each child is distinct from the other. Each child reacts differently to instruction. Also the circumstances of each child, as well as the community organization, differentiates the mother's views of the situation separately.

But something must be done for the protection of these little ones. It is always safe to teach children that they should say, "No thank you" to a stranger. If a child is lost, the neighbors are the first to call for help. No child, not young person, should accept a ride from a stranger. No matter how friendly the stranger may be, he may be the answer to a child's problem.

That teaching should not frighten children so that they fear the father's name and the home telephone number. It will put them on guard.

The neighborhood conditions have an influence here. If a child lives in a neighborhood where there is no place for a child to play at home until his mother or some other responsible person takes him out. If he lives in a suburban town where there is no place for a child to play at home until his mother or some other responsible person takes him out.

Ninth-Inning Homer Lifts Idaho Falls to 5-2 Victory Over Magic Valley Cowboys

Jim Hicks knocked a three-run homer in the top of the ninth inning Thursday to push the Pioneer league-leading Idaho Falls柔术 into a 5-2 victory over Magic Valley in the baseball contest. His blow, which cleared the outfield fence 350 feet from the plate, came after Curt Fratius and Brian McCall had singled and Tom McCraw hit into a fielder's choice. Fratius and McCraw sprinted home ahead of Hicks.

Red Cagers Confident of Olympic Title

CLEVELAND May 12 (UPI) — Before the Russians with their victorious all-star basketball team, Coach John McLendon was advised that things may be different.

The Cleveland coach quoted a Soviet official as saying, "The United States' and Russia will meet in the finals of the 1964 Olympics at Tokyo and Russia will win."

If the prediction should hold up, McLendon could take credit for it.

After the three-week trip he conducted many clinics and before he left he was told that some of his ideas had been put into practice.

Among his suggestions for training young Soviet basketballers was that less emphasis be placed on rebounding, passed and blocking.

The all-star team, which included Jerry Lucas of Ohio State and four members of the Cleveland team, was undefeated in the seven-game tour of Russia.

In the squad didn't have much trouble with the basketball court, there were other problems, and one was hospital — too much hospital.

"There were so hospital that you hardly could believe it," said McLendon on his arrival here Wednesday night. "Finally we had to restrict the touring so our players would not be too tired for the games."

Banquets, where four toots of vodka were the minimum, were a problem, as was the lack of privacy. The coach, who got around this finally by substituting cream soda with the aid of an understanding Soviet official.

Indeed, the exchange of information on the cage game was not entirely one-sided, and the astute coach brought home some ideas of his own about keeping ahead of the Russians.

Ace by Nagle Helps Him to Colonial Lead

PORT WENTWORTH, Pa., May 12 (UPI) — British Open champion Ken Nagle used a hole-in-one to shoot a record-breaking five-under-par 63 Thursday and take the first round lead in the 100th annual professional golf tournament.

The 40-year-old Australian bagged the ace on the 13th hole — first in the tournament's 15 years — and followed with a 64.

It helped the big fellow, who has played poorly in five previous tournaments this year, and won only $14,161. He was 24th place in the Colonial, and Peter Alliss, 64, set Wednesday by Doug Ford in a pro-amateur.

Nagle also had a hole-in-one Thursday and finished with a 67, tied for second place. The gold great from Fort Worth was playing in his 14th Colonial tournament. He has won 10.

Seven players in the field of 37 bettered par. Doug Bouchard, Bill Casper and Mike Souchak each registered a 69 to tie for fifth place. Bob Gobley had a par 70, while 10 others tied for 71 in the Colonial tournament. Last year he tied for second place and won $25,000 in his initial appearance, which was his 10th.

There were no bogeys on Nagle's card as he moved around the long course. He started by hitting the first two holes with a 6 and 5, then a 4 and a 20-footer on 2. He parred the remainder of the first nine and shot 69 on the next three holes.

He was 12 under par in the 12th, his putting was terrific, he had only 23 in going around the course.

He was delighted to get the hole in one. It was the fourth in his golfing career.

Play for Wins

PITTSBURGH, May 12 (UPI) — No longer are the San Francisco Giants playing for personal achievement. They're playing for victories, now, says vice-president Charles E. Peavy.

That's the big difference between the 1960 and 1961 teams. The 1961 team, Peavy told reporters before the San Francisco-Pittsburgh game, "is playing for one thing — making as many mistakes as possible. They have made a bit. They aren't running wild and killing people, they're not making the wrong things."

The Giants proceeded to beat the Pirates 3-0 on a three-hitter by Mike McCormick.

Wheat—Mixed. High trade.

Corn—Firm. Moderate demand.

Barley—Firm; late rally.

Hay—Mixed. 25 cents higher.

Cattle—No recent slaughter offers reported for market test.

NEW YORK, May 12 1961—Stocks closed with a small gain yesterday, but the market was held most price movements and industry groups within a fairly narrow range.

Defense issues, some electronics and low-priced special situations, were higher and active. "Quality" industrial stocks did not move much, but the market rose, according to the Dow-Jones industrial average.

Strong upward moves were made by Am. Cast. & Reliance, Metal Manufacturing, United Aircraft, Lockheed, Kroc-McCle, Texas Instruments, Motor Wheel, Croft Corp., Bausch & Lomb, and others.

Tele. Raytheon, Magnavox and Lake Bryant.

Among the weaker issues were Penn Central, Vicks, The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea, Cornings Glass, Gladstones, and Lorillard. Federal Pacific Electric dropped around 3 points.

Youngstown rose more than one in a dull steel group. Studebaker was fractionally up and American Can and Cities Service, Cotton Oil was a strong spot in the low-priced group.

Today's trading will complete the month of indecision in the stock market. Brokers said that interest will be confined to speculative stocks and the small issues until the market makes a stronger show of strength and the big industrials can respond.

Stocks on the big board totaled 4,840,000 shares compared with 5,170,000 yesterday.
